ALAKEA STREET

We have decided to take a step in a business way that means the ANNIHILATION OF PRICES, It means the closing out of one of the oldest branches of our large mercantile business. It means greater energy directed toward serving the men of Honolulu for we are

Retiring from the Dry Goods Business

and to quickly get rid of the stock to make room for Men's Clothing and re-arrange the tailoring department we are going to offer all of the lines heretofore carried for the ladies of Honolulu at prices less than half formerly charged.

Closing Out Sale Is Now On

The enlarged department will be opened on a plan never before attempted in this city. We have the store, the locality and the knowledge of the wants of men in the clothing line. The new fixtures will be of a character which for novelty and stupendousness has never been seen outside of New York City.

CONSULS CALL ON JAPANESE ADMIRAL

Entertainment Of The Visiting Squadron
Continues

Admiral Ijichi, commanding the Japanese training squadron, has been a busy man since he arrived here. This morning French Consul Dement called on him on board the Aso. The Admiral was absent, and the honor of receiving the distinguished guest fell upon Commander Sakamoto, chief of staff. Mr. Dement was attired in his Consular uniform and was accompanied by Dr. A. Marques, the vice consul. The Consul was accorded a salute of seven guns, when he left the flagship.

R. F. Lanz, Vice Consul for Belgium, called at 11 o'clock. Yesterday afternoon, the cruisers were visited by many Japanese from the outside districts. The Japanese school children were among the visitors and the officers and men showed them all over the ships.

This morning the cruisers were again visited by local Japanese. The general public will be permitted to visit the ships this afternoon from 1 o'clock on. Visitors will be received every afternoon from now on.

The naval band from the flagship Aso played at Kapiolani Park yesterday afternoon, alternating in the program with the Hawaiian band.

Admiral Ijichi gave a dinner on board his flagship last night in honor of Consul-General Uyeno and his staff.

Headed by M. Yamashiro of the Japanese Hotel Union, and Mito of the tax office, the local Japanese hack unionists, with thirty-five hacks, drove around to the points of interest this morning with the cadets of the Japanese cruisers.

From the naval wharf they drove out to Waikiki, Diamond Head, Palolo, Manoa, Oahu College, Paoli, Punchbowl, Kalia, and other places.

The rest of the cadets will be taken out tomorrow morning.

This afternoon athletic sports will be indulged in at the Boys' Field. There will be fencing, tug-of-war, wrestling, dancing and other Oriental sports. Bands will be in attendance.

LEGISLATORS SEE

CRACKED RESERVOIR

Last Saturday afternoon the members of the House of Representatives, through the courtesy of the Improvement Club, were taken out in automobiles to see the Kaimuki reservoir. They went up and were shown by Z. K. Myers and Superintendent Campbell the big cracks in the thin walls of the reservoir. Superintendent Campbell pointed out how impossible it is to repair the receptacle of Kaimuki's water supply, and stated that he was going to ask the Legislature to appropriate $40,000 to build a new reservoir higher up on the hill. This, he said, would supply all that part of the city with water, where, as now, with the present pumping facilities, the water can not be lifted to a height sufficient to supply all the residences. No fire protection is afforded under present conditions.

On the way back the party stopped at the residence of Mr. Daggett and partook of his hospitality.

With a bullet hole through the heart and another through the head, the body of Peter Dieter, the young ranchman from Naperville, Ill., who was murdered in his mountain hut near Pueblo, Col., was found. A reward of $500 has been offered for the arrest of Bay Gordon, who lived with Dieter.

MONEY ASKED FOR KULA PIPE LINE

Maui Delegation Holds Conference With Governor

Governor Frear held a conference this morning with a Maui delegation, consisting of the Senators and Representatives from that island, backed up by Dr. Raymond, John Walker, and J. P. Cooke. The conference was in reference to the Kula pipe line, for the construction of which Maui is asking the Legislature to appropriate $100,000.

The Governor stated after the conference was over that he is heartily in favor of the proposition to construct a pipe line to provide the Kula district with water. The only question at issue, he says, is how to go about it to get the money. The Maui people are asking for a straight appropriation for the purpose, of $100,000. They will probably get it in some way, though is not yet decided.

SUPREME COURT OPINION

An opinion was handed down by the Supreme Court this morning in the case of M. F. Scott vs. Joe Maria, alias Joe Maria Pedro. This is an action instituted in the District Court to recover $30 and interest, based on the defendant's endorsement of a draft in favor of Frank Olivera, signed the Kona Sugar Company by its manager, Jas. Cowan. It was alleged that the draft was presented for payment and dishonored prior to its endorsement by the defendant, the Kona Sugar Co. being insolvent at the time the note was delivered to the plaintiff. After judgment for the defendant in the District Court, plaintiff appealed to the Circuit Court, which sustained the defendant's demurrer. The case came before the Supreme Court on plaintiff's exceptions to the sustaining of the demurrer, and also on exception to the denial of his motion for a new trial. The latter exception, however, the Court says, has no merit. The exception to the sustaining of the demurrer is sustained.

SWEET PEAS BLOOM

Mrs. E. R. Bath brought to the Bulletin office this morning a beautiful bunch of sweet peas grown in the garden of her Palolo home.

Mrs. Taylor, the florist, told Mrs. Bath that these are the first sweet peas ever grown on this island. Mrs. Bath has made many efforts and this is the first time she has succeeded in getting the vines to bloom.

The sweet peas are beautiful in color and the perfume is just like the sweet peas "at home."

The celebrated Century vase, manufactured for exhibition at the Columbian exposition, and never since exhibited, will be displayed at Seattle. The vase is valued at more than $35,000 and illustrates in its design the progress of a century on the American continent, starting from early Indian days and carrying the idea through the transitions of war and peace, development and progress to the civilization and prosperity which marked the closing decade of the last century. The vase is four feet two inches high and five feet four inches across the base.

Boston is to have a rat crusade and among the well-known women interested in the movement is Mrs. T. J. Bowler, a sister of Prof. Lowell, the president-elect of Harvard university.

It will pay you to come early as the prices are such that the Goods may be bought quickly by the dealers.
